Marketing and Advertising Policy and Procedure

1. Purpose

This Policy establishes TIIS's requirements for the planning, development, approval, publication, monitoring and control of marketing, advertising, recruitment and promotional communications. It is intended to ensure that representations made by or on behalf of TIIS are accurate, current, ethical, evidence-based and not false, misleading or deceptive, and that prospective and current students receive sufficient information to make informed decisions.

The Policy also establishes institutional controls over marketing undertaken by education agents, contractors, partners and other authorised representatives and provides an auditable approval and record-keeping framework.

2. Scope

This Policy applies to all persons who develop, approve, publish, distribute or communicate marketing or recruitment information on behalf of TIIS, including:

TIIS employees, officers and contractors;

the Marketing Team and Admissions/Student Services personnel; education agents and their authorised representatives;

partner organisations and other third parties authorised to represent TIIS; and persons managing official TIIS websites, social media accounts, digital campaigns or events.

It applies to all forms of marketing and advertising, including websites, course pages, brochures, prospectuses, advertisements, social media, email campaigns, search advertising, videos, webinars, education fairs, presentations, agent materials, offshore campaigns and other public representations.

3. Legislative and Regulatory Framework

This Policy is to be read and applied consistently with applicable legislation and regulatory requirements, including:

Higher Education Standards Framework (Threshold Standards) 2021, particularly Domain 7 – Representation, Information and Information Management;

Tertiary Education Quality and Standards Agency Act 2011;

Education Services for Overseas Students Act 2000 and associated regulations;

National Code of Practice for Providers of Education and Training to Overseas Students 2018, including Standards 1–4 and applicable transfer requirements;

Australian Consumer Law in Schedule 2 to the Competition and Consumer Act 2010;

Higher Education Support Act 2003 and applicable Higher Education Provider Guidelines, where relevant;

Privacy Act 1988 and Australian Privacy Principles;

Student Identifiers Act 2014; and

Do Not Call Register Act 2006 and applicable electronic marketing requirements.

Where legislation or regulatory requirements change, the current legal requirement prevails over any inconsistent provision of this Policy.

4. Definitions

Term	Meaning
Marketing Material	Any communication, representation or promotional content intended to promote TIIS, its courses, services, facilities, outcomes or reputation, whether published by TIIS or an authorised representative.
Education Agent	A person or organisation formally engaged by TIIS to recruit or assist overseas students, as regulated under the ESOS framework and National Code.
Material Change	A change that could affect a prospective or current student's decision, rights, obligations or understanding, including changes to course accreditation, duration, delivery mode, location, fees, entry requirements, professional accreditation or regulatory status.
Public Information	Information made available to prospective or current students or the public through TIIS or an authorised third party.
Marketing Materials Register	TIIS's controlled record of approved current and historical marketing materials, approvals, owners, publication dates, review dates and withdrawal status.

5. Policy Principles

TIIS will ensure that its marketing and recruitment activities:

- are accurate, current, transparent, verifiable and not false, misleading or deceptive;
- support informed student choice and responsible recruitment;
- clearly distinguish accredited higher education courses from non-award or other offerings;
- do not guarantee admission, successful completion, migration, visa, professional registration or employment outcomes;
- accurately represent TIIS's registration, course accreditation, professional accreditation and CRICOS status;
- are consistent across TIIS-controlled channels and authorised third-party channels;
- respect privacy, consent, intellectual property and brand requirements; and
- are subject to documented approval, monitoring, version control and corrective action.

6. Marketing and Advertising Standards

6.1 Accuracy and evidence

Claims must be capable of substantiation at the time they are made. Comparative, ranking, employment, salary, graduate outcome, industry recognition or similar claims must identify a reliable and current evidentiary basis. Qualifying information must be sufficiently prominent and must not contradict the principal message.

6.2 Course and admission information

TIIS must ensure that course and admission information is accurate, current, consistent with approved records and sufficiently clear to support informed student decisions. Where relevant to the communication, marketing material must state or provide ready access to:

- course title, AQF level, accreditation and CRICOS details, where applicable;
- course content, qualification outcomes, duration, scheduled holiday breaks, delivery modes, study load and compulsory online attendance;

- the actual campus address and location of delivery, distinguishing Sydney and Melbourne as applicable;
- academic prerequisites, minimum English-language proficiency, relevant work experience and any inherent requirements;
- tuition fees, compulsory non-tuition charges, possible fee changes, payment obligations and cancellation/refund information;
- credit transfer and recognition of prior learning (RPL) arrangements and limitations;
- professional accreditation, licensing or registration status and any limitations;
- compulsory placements, work-based training, community-based learning or collaborative research activities, or a clear statement where not applicable;
- facilities, learning resources and student support available at the relevant campus; and
- any approved third-party or transnational delivery arrangements relevant to the course.

Academic and English-language entry requirements must be verified against the approved Course Entry Requirements Register (CERR) and relevant accreditation documents. The Registrar and Academic Dean must verify substantive entry and course claims before publication. Marketing must ensure consistency between approved source information, course webpages, brochures, the Student Handbook and Letters of Offer, while recognising that each document has its own approval process.

Campus-specific details must be verified before publication and whenever arrangements change. Marketing information must not imply that an unapproved course, campus, delivery mode or professional accreditation is available.

6.3 Financial assistance

References to FEE-HELP, scholarships, subsidies or other financial assistance must be accurate, current and clearly state applicable eligibility limitations. Marketing must not imply that assistance is available to a person who is not eligible. FEE-HELP must not be advertised or implied until TIIS approval is registered and independently verified against the relevant Australian Government register. Until then, no TIIS staff member, education agent or authorised third party may state or imply that TIIS students can access FEE-HELP.

6.4 Institutional and CRICOS identification

Marketing must use TIIS's approved legal/trading identity and provider identifiers as required. Written or online material offering or promoting CRICOS courses to overseas students must include TIIS's CRICOS registered name and CRICOS provider code where required by the ESOS framework.

6.5 Professional accreditation and employment claims

TIIS must not represent a course as professionally accredited, recognised or leading directly to registration or licensing unless the claim is current and verified. Employment and career statements must be framed as potential pathways or opportunities and must not constitute a guarantee.

7. Prohibited and High-Risk Marketing Practices

TIIS and persons acting on its behalf must not:

make false, misleading, deceptive, exaggerated or unsubstantiated claims;

guarantee successful course completion, a visa or migration outcome, employment, salary, professional registration or other outcome not within TIIS's control;

misrepresent TIIS's provider category, course accreditation, CRICOS registration, professional accreditation, facilities, delivery locations or partnerships;

use urgency, discounts, scholarships or incentives in a manner that obscures material conditions or creates a misleading overall impression;

publish testimonials, images, personal information or endorsements without appropriate authority or consent; actively recruit an overseas student in a manner inconsistent with applicable provider-transfer restrictions; or offer or pay an education-agent commission or other prohibited benefit in connection with an onshore transfer where prohibited by the National Code or other applicable law.

8. Education Agents and Third-Party Marketing

TIIS remains responsible for representations made on its behalf. Education agents and authorised third parties must use current, approved TIIS information and comply with this Policy, their written agreements and applicable regulatory requirements.

TIIS must:

- supply current approved course, campus, fee, admission, CRICOS and institutional information;
- require prior approval of agent-created materials using TIIS branding, course information or institutional representations;
- prohibit guarantees of admission, visas, migration, employment or educational outcomes;
- maintain agent details in PRISMS where required and monitor agent websites, social media and recruitment activities on a risk-based basis;
- promptly notify affected agents of changes to accreditation, registration, entry requirements, fees, delivery locations, regulatory decisions and other material information;
- require prompt correction or withdrawal of outdated, inaccurate or unauthorised materials and retain evidence of agent notifications and follow-up;
- take proportionate corrective action, including suspension or termination where serious or repeated non-compliance occurs; and
- not knowingly accept unethical recruitment or activity prohibited by the ESOS framework, including prohibited transfer-related commissions or benefits.

The Marketing Manager coordinates agent marketing controls. Significant issues must be escalated to Quality & Compliance and the CEO. Agent performance information should inform periodic governance reporting and student cohort analysis where appropriate.

9. Digital Marketing, Social Media and AI-Generated Content

Official digital and social media content is subject to the same standards and approval controls as printed material. Staff, agents and contractors must not establish or operate an account that represents itself as an official TIIS account without written authority.

Where generative AI or automated tools are used to assist in creating marketing content, a responsible TIIS staff member must verify factual accuracy, regulatory compliance, copyright/privacy considerations and consistency with approved institutional information before publication. AI-generated content must not bypass the approval process.

10. Testimonials, Images and Endorsements

Testimonials and student or alumni stories must be genuine and fairly represent the person's experience. TIIS must obtain and retain appropriate consent for identifiable images, recordings, quotations or personal information used for promotional purposes. Editing must not materially change the meaning of a testimonial. Any material incentive associated with an endorsement must be disclosed where required.

11. Development and Approval of Marketing Materials

Marketing material must be developed, verified and approved through a controlled process proportionate to its regulatory and reputational risk.

1. Development — Marketing prepares content from current approved source documents.

2. Content verification — Academic/course claims are checked by the Academic Dean or authorised officer; admission and English requirements by the Registrar/Admissions; fees by Finance; and registration or regulatory claims by Quality & Compliance.

3. Campus verification — Relevant operational owners confirm that Sydney and Melbourne delivery locations, facilities, resources and student support statements are accurate.

4. Compliance review — The Marketing Compliance Checklist is completed for new or materially changed public-facing materials, including checks of CRICOS status, approved entry requirements and consistency with related student-facing information.

5. Marketing review — The Marketing Manager verifies brand, channel, campaign, completeness and version control.

6. Approval — The CEO or authorised delegate approves major, new or materially changed institutional/course marketing before publication, consistent with the Delegations of Authority.

7. Release — The approved version is entered in the Marketing Materials Register and published through controlled channels.

Routine changes that do not alter substantive meaning may be approved under operational delegation, provided the approval and change are recorded. No content may be released while mandatory verification or approval is outstanding. Publication approval under this section does not replace the separate approvals required for the Student Handbook, Letter of Offer or academic policy documents.

12. Approval Matrix

Material / Change	Content Verification	Compliance Review	Final Approval
New course brochure / course webpage	Academic Dean + Registrar/Finance as relevant	Quality & Compliance	CEO or delegate
Major institutional campaign	Relevant business owner	Quality & Compliance where regulatory claims arise	CEO or delegate
Agent-created TIIS material	Marketing + relevant content owner	Quality & Compliance	Marketing Manager / CEO under delegation
Material change to fees, entry, delivery, accreditation or CRICOS information	Relevant accountable manager	Quality & Compliance	CEO or delegate
Routine social post using approved source content	Marketing	As required by risk	Marketing Manager or authorised delegate
Correction of inaccurate public information	Relevant content owner	Quality & Compliance where material	Marketing Manager; escalate material matters to CEO

13. Monitoring, Corrections and Withdrawal

The Marketing Manager must maintain a documented, risk-based review schedule covering TIIS-controlled public information and higher-risk third-party representations. At a minimum, course pages and material student-facing claims must be checked before each intake and when a material change occurs. The schedule must include periodic reviews of the website, brochures, digital advertising, social media and relevant agent materials.

An immediate documented review is triggered by changes to course accreditation, CRICOS registration, fees, entry requirements, campus/delivery arrangements, professional accreditation or regulatory requirements, and by publication of a regulatory decision about TIIS, including refusal of course accreditation.

The review must include websites, course pages, social media, search advertising, brochures, scheduled or archived campaigns, agent portals and agent-created material. The Marketing Manager, Academic Dean and Quality & Compliance Manager must verify that no promotion or recruitment for the Master of Research (MRes) or Graduate Certificate in Research Methods (GCRM) remains unless the relevant course is lawfully approved and TIIS has authorised promotion.

Where material is inaccurate, outdated or potentially misleading, TIIS must promptly assess the risk, correct or withdraw the material, notify affected agents or persons where appropriate, preserve evidence, and consider regulatory notification where required. Significant issues must be escalated to the CEO and Quality & Compliance Manager. Review dates, affected channels, communications, actions and verified closure must be recorded in the Marketing Materials Register. This requirement does not imply that historical checks have already been completed.

14. Marketing Materials Register and Records

TIIS must maintain a controlled Marketing Materials Register demonstrating approval, currency, ownership and traceability of published representations. As applicable, the Register must record:

- material title, type, channel and relevant course, campus or campaign;
- owner, version, publication date, approval and source-document verification;
- last review date, next review date and publication status (current, superseded or withdrawn);
- agents or third parties using the material, where relevant;
- changes, complaints, corrections, withdrawal notifications and closure evidence; and
- the location of the approved copy and supporting evidence.

Only approved current versions may be published or distributed. The Marketing Manager must arrange withdrawal of superseded versions from controlled channels and notification to relevant agents. Superseded copies, approvals, checklists, evidence for claims and corrective-action records must be retained under TIIS records-management requirements. Records must not be backdated or retrospectively altered.

15. Compliance Monitoring and Self-Assurance

The Quality & Compliance Manager must undertake or coordinate periodic independent, risk-based assurance of marketing and recruitment controls. Sampling may include websites, course pages, brochures, social media, digital campaigns, agent materials, testimonials, approvals and the Marketing Materials Register.

Reviews must consider accuracy against approved accreditation and CRICOS records; academic and English entry requirements; Sydney/Melbourne information; version control; approval compliance; agent communications; and prompt withdrawal of non-compliant material.

Findings must identify risk, responsible owner, corrective action and due date. Completion must be verified and recorded. Significant or systemic issues must be escalated to the CEO and reported to the Board of Directors and, for academic matters, the Academic Board through established reporting arrangements. Reporting and closure evidence must be retained for self-assurance and regulatory review.

16. Responsibilities

Role	Mandatory responsibility
Board of Directors	Approves this Policy under applicable delegations; oversees material marketing, recruitment, regulatory and reputational risks.
CEO	Ensures implementation, resources and corrective action; approves major or materially changed marketing within delegation.
Marketing Manager / Marketing Development Manager	Owns operational marketing controls, approval workflow, website and agent monitoring, publication and Marketing Materials Register.
Academic Dean / academic officers	Verify academic, course, learning outcome, delivery, accreditation and other academic claims.
Registrar / Admissions / Student Services	Verify course entry and English requirements, enrolment information, campus-specific student services and consistency with approved admissions information.
Finance	Verifies fees, compulsory charges, scholarships and financial-assistance claims.
Quality & Compliance Manager	Provides independent second-line assurance, reviews high-risk claims, monitors regulatory changes and reports material non-compliance.
Education agents / authorised third parties	Use only current approved materials, obtain required approvals and correct or withdraw non-compliant representations promptly.

All officers must act within delegated authority and promptly escalate material discrepancies or potential non-compliance.

17. Breaches and Corrective Action

Suspected breaches of this Policy must be reported promptly to the Marketing Manager and, where material, the Quality and Compliance Manager or CEO. TIIS may remove or correct content, suspend publication authority, require retraining, impose contractual corrective action, suspend an agent's marketing activities or terminate an arrangement, subject to applicable contracts, policies and law.

18. Policy Review

This Policy will be reviewed at least every two years and earlier where there is a material change to legislation, regulatory requirements, TIIS's registration or delivery model, or where monitoring, audit, complaints or incidents indicate that amendment is required.

19. Document Control
